

NURSING RN, ASSOCIATE IN SCIENCE DEGREE - GENERAL TRACK

The Nursing, Associate in Science (ASN) degree is a limited access program. Acceptance into the program requires a separate application process in addition to College admission. Interested students must review the program information packet which includes program core application requirements and selection criteria. Program application preparation packets provide additional information and calendar specific to each program acceptance opportunity. Students access program application information at <https://www.lssc.edu/dept/nursing/asn-overview2/>.

Program graduates obtain RN licensure through successful completion of the NCLEX-RN.
