

EET-ELECTRONIC ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGY

EET 1084C Introduction to Electronics (3 Credits)

This course provides an introduction to the application of electricity and electronic components, circuits and devices. This course in the fundamentals of DC and AC electrical circuit theory provides the student with a study of computer electronics, the methods of analyzing circuits, the use of circuit models to solve electrical problems, and the application of circuit techniques to semiconductor and discrete components.